Why choose Dalby for your event?

Dalby is positioned just over 200km north west of Brisbane, at the crossroads of the Bunya, Warrego, Moonie and Condamine State highways – placing it centrally between country and coast.

There are many new and refurbished motels and short term accommodation options in the Dalby region and, as the launching pad for tourist destinations such as Jimbour House and the Bunya Mountains, Dalby is an excellent conference location.

Dalby is well known for its thriving agricultural and livestock industry, however in recent years it has been the centre of the natural resources boom with coal and natural gas exploration – a major stronghold of the Queensland economy. In addition to this, Dalby also boasts one of the largest regional industrial and manufacturing sectors in Australia.

Dalby continues to grow with an estimated population of 12,000 today. This number is expected to rise to dramatically with the growth of the energy industry.

There are a large number of dining and catering options available in town. Dalby is easily accessible, diverse and vibrant, making it the perfect destination for your next seminar, conference or business meeting.
